

I think that if the LPFM changes are enacted, the community would be the one to suffer. Klove has done wonders for family trips, and the peace of mind that comes from knowing there is no need for a seven second delay. I think that in this era of record fines levied against other media outlets for violating the indecency standards, that the FCC would embrace a station that they absolutely do not have to worry about. I think that it would be irresponsible if the new changes were enacted so that I would not be able to listen to KLOVE. I respectfully request that you would reconsider the changes and not endanger the ministry that occurs every day over the airwaves.
